

Biological Chemistry

The team can apply a wide range of analytical techniques to identify specific molecules.

Design of assays to measure biological processes

- Assays may be fluorescent or mass spectrometry based.
- We can apply a wide range of processes and techniques to meet the specific questions of interest.